GEO. W. PERKINS, FINANCIER AND POLITICAL LEADER, DIES IN STAMFORD SANITARIUM

Inflammation of Brain Due to Continuous Overwork Cause of His Death.

TAKEN ILL IN EUROPE.

Close Friend of Col. Roosevelt and War Worker Was
Father of Profit Sharing.

George W. Perkins, one of the ablest financiers in America and one of the foremost political factors outside the office-seeking class, died at 2:15 this morning in the Stamford Hall Sanitarium, Stamford, Conn. A statement by Mr. Perkins' physicians, given out at Mr. Perkins' office, gave the time of his death and stated that death resulted from an attack of "acute inflammation of the brain, the result of complete nervous exhaustion due to intense and continuous overwork."

Mr. Perkins had been in ill health for a long time. Early in May he left his home in Riverside, and went to a place near Ellenville in the lower Catskills. His condition failed to improve. There were rumors that he had been taken to Roosevelt Hospital, but these were denied by his son, who said his father was taken directly to Stamford from the Catskills, and he had been at Stamford for some time before the announcement of his presence there was publicly made.

It was on June 11 that the public first knew of his fatal illness when a nervous breakdown and his removal to the sanitarium were announced. Mr. Perkins' son said the object in removing his father to the sanitarium was to give him "a complete rest."

The illness which caused his death is believed to have been an aftermath of an attack of influenza and pneumonia which he suffered in France when he was doing Y. M. C. A. work during the war. Arrangements for the funeral have not been announced.

It was learned that Mr. Perkins recently rallied nicely from a serious heart attack, and the fact that he had the strength to do so was considered encouraging. It was while his friends felt thus hopeful that the end came with shocking suddenness.

The body of Mr. Perkins was taken to his country home at Riverside this afternoon. Mrs. Perkins and her son were with Mr. Perkins when the end came.

The funeral will take place Sunday afternoon, probably at 4 o'clock, at the Riverside Presbyterian Church. The services will be private.

Mr. Perkins was born in Chicago, Jan. 31, 1863. His father, whose name also was George W. Perkins, was a pioneer in the life insurance

$100,000 JEWELRY ROBBERY IN HOME OF LAWYER HARE

Theft on June 2 Revealed in Warning to Pawnbrokers
—Police Silent.

A $100,000 jewel robbery at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery Hare, No. 100 East 64th Street, on the morning of June 2, news of which has been suppressed by the police for more than two weeks, has been revealed by a warning sent to all pawnbrokers to watch for the stolen gems.

The burglars are believed to have entered the residence through an unfinished building on the Park Avenue corner. Between this building and the brownstone house occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Hare, there are two houses which are closed for the summer.

Immediately after the discovery that Mrs. Hare's jewel case, containing a $50,000 pearl necklace and seventeen other pieces of jewelry had disappeared the police were notified and detectives were assigned. The robbery was kept quiet by the police, but apparently no headway has been made toward recovering the jewels in the time that has elapsed.

Included in the list of stolen jewels besides the string of pearls are a pearl bracelet valued at $15,000, two pearl and diamond bracelets, a pearl and diamond brooch, a fifteen-carat emerald pendant, a three-carat diamond lavallier and diamond ornaments.

Mr. Hare is a member of the law firm of Hare and Hare, No. 22 William Street. He is a member of the Union, Knickerbocker, Racquet and Tennis, Tuxedo, City, Midway and Colony Clubs. He formerly was Assistant Corporation Counsel.

Mrs. Hare was Miss Constance Parsons, daughter of the late John E. Parsons, organizer of the American Sugar Refining Company.

MRS. FEITNER WINS "MET" FOR 6TH TIME

Regains Golf Championship by Defeating Miss Bishop on Greenwich Course.

(Special to The Evening World.) GREENWICH, Conn., June 18.—Mrs. Quentin Feitner of the South Shore Club for the sixth time became Metropolitan golf champion, when she defeated Miss Georgianna Bishop of Brooklyn, a former title holder, in the finals to-day over the Greenwich course by 3 up and 1 to go.

Both were even at the turn, Miss Bishop, having the advantage on the greens, which the new champion only evened at the fourteenth, where her tremendous driving proved the deciding factor.

Mrs. Feitner then won the fifteenth and also the sixteenth where Miss Bishop lost control of her club.

Mrs. Geilner now, Hyde, started winning "met" titles in 1916 and her victory to-day makes the third time she has defeated Miss Bishop.

Miss Marjorie Hollins, the title champion, was absent in England and let her title go by default.

The John Doe inquiry into the theft of $400,000 worth of jewels belonging to Mrs. Enrico Caruso on the night of June 2, was begun this morning before Justice of the Peace Sherill at East Hampton, L. I. District Attorney Young conducted the inquiry for the State and former Assistant District Attorney Conway of Brooklyn represented the Caruso family. Frederick J. and Henry Goldsmith represented George Fitzgerald, the Caruso chauffeur.

The hall was crowded when the hearing started at 11 o'clock. Mrs. Caruso was accompanied by her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Park Benjamin Jr. Fitzgerald's wife sat in a front seat. Mrs. Caruso was the first witness called.

Mrs. Caruso was dressed in a blue tailor-made suit, black pumps, light blue crepe de chine shirtwaist, black beaded net hat and wore a fur. She gave a list of all the employees in the household.

"I went to New York on business on Friday, June 4," said Mrs. Caruso. "I was accompanied by my sister-in-law, Mrs. Benjamin, and a personal maid. We were driven to the railroad station here by my chauffeur and took a train for the city. My chauffeur met me in New York at noon on Saturday, the following day, and brought me back. Coming down I had a guest, Mrs. James Williams of Atlanta, Ga., with me. My two brothers, Paul and Romayne, were also with us. We arrived in East Hampton at 7 o'clock Saturday evening."

Mrs. Caruso then described the steel jewel case in which she kept her jewels.

MILK PRICE TO BE HIGHER FOR JULY

Borden's President Says Farmers Have Advanced Cost to Distributors.

Patrick D. Fox, president of Borden's Farm Products Company, announced to-day that, owing to the increase in the price which the distributors will have to pay the farmers for milk during July, the cost of milk to consumers will be advanced next month. He said the price of the various grades would be announced in a few days, but would be kept as low as possible.

"Next month we shall have to pay the dairymen $1.35 a 100 pounds, an increase of 10 cents over the price for May," he said, "and shall have to ask the public to help if we are to do business without loss."

HOOVER TO VOTE HARDING TICKET; URGES UNITY

Issues a Formal Statement
After Breakfasting With the Republican Nominee.

STANDS FOR PLATFORM.

Nothing in It to Prevent Giving
It a Forward Looking Interpretation.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Indorsing the main action of the Republican National Convention at Chicago, Herbert Hoover, in a letter to friends, made public to-day after he had conferred with Senator Harding, called upon all elements of the party to support the National Republican ticket at the polls.

"I breakfasted with Senator Harding this morning at the Senator's invitation," said Mr. Hoover's statement. "I presented the views which I believed were held by a considerable group of independent and progressive Republicans on various questions. The Senator stated that it was his most sincere desire to be the instrumentalities for bringing the divergent elements of the party together; that the views of both the conservative and progressive wings of the party would be fully presented in the administration; that he represented no particular group, but that he considered it was his first duty as leader of the party to consolidate all elements into a united front. He will, of course, issue no statement until after the Democratic Convention, and then after consultation with all sides."

Mr. Hoover quotes the following from a letter which he has sent to friends all over the country: "The Chicago platform is not radical. The greater part of it is constructive and progressive. Nothing prevents the compromise plank on Labor, the League, &c., from being given a forward-looking interpretation. Some things, including a reorganization of our election expenditures and the primaries, are not adequately dealt with."

"Nothing could be more disastrous than the development of several party organizations representing the complexity of every group in the country."

"I am convinced that unity of action among the liberal thinkers of the party, especially if they exert themselves in the current of Congressional elections, will insure the country against legislative reaction."

"If the Republican Party is not to be irretrievably split, I cannot conceive that Senator Harding will for one moment submit the administrative side of the Government to the domination of any group or coteries."

SAYS HARDING HELD
STOCK IN BREWERY

Head of Dry Party Declares Senator Admitted This 2-3 Years Ago.

CHICAGO, June 18.—Senator Warren G. Harding, formerly owned stock in a brewery, according to a statement issued by Virgil G. Hinshaw at Prohibition National Headquarters here to-day. Mr. Hinshaw says Senator Harding admitted at a dinner given by Thomas B. Pedlow at the New Willard Hotel in Washington two and a half years ago, "that he had owned brewery stock in Ohio."

The dinner, Mr. Hinshaw said, was given in honor of Nat Harris, the dry Governor of Ohio.

The statement adds that the Senator later voted for the Federal Prohibition Amendment and voted for the Volstead Act over the President's veto.

WOMEN DEMOCRATS CHOOSE ROOSTER AS REAL PARTY EMBLEM

Say Donkey Was Wished on Organization That Has Something to Crow About.

CHICAGO, June 18.—Mrs. Frederick Tahl, Chairman of the Finance Committee of the Illinois Democratic Women's Committee, announced to-day that thousands of little silver roosters will be taken to the National Convention at San Francisco in an effort to familiarize the populace with "the real party emblem."

"I have gone into this question," said Mrs. Tahl, "and I find that the donkey was wished on the Democratic Party just after the Civil War when the Democrats stubbornly refused the reconstruction programme of the opposite party."

"The Democrats are not 'mild,' only 'm.' The rooster is a proud bird and has something to crow about."

Names "Miss Wilson" as Visitor Who Owned Pink Pajamas, in Long Grilling by Prosecutor and Newspaper Men—Slayer Followed Woman to House, Theory Now.

Mrs. Marie Larsen, housekeeper for Joseph Bowne Elwell, who was murdered a week ago to-day in his home at No. 224 West 70th Street, underwent a grilling examination this afternoon at the hands of District Attorney Swann, in the presence of a score of newspaper men who were invited by the prosecution to ask the witness any questions they deemed pertinent.

The scene in the District Attorney's private office was one of the most dramatic since the discovery of the crumpled body of the whist expert and racing man. Mrs. Larsen answered most questions promptly, but she hesitated when Mr. Swann asked her if she had discussed the murder with Rhodes, the chauffeur, or Barnes, the valet and secretary, and finally said "No."

Assistant District Attorney Joyce had said earlier in the day that he believed the woman and the chauffeur had not met all they knew, but the housekeeper withstood the questioning of the District Attorney and the newspaper men for an hour. She told the name of the owner of the pink pajamas (instead of a kimono), silk slippers and boudoir cap.

She said that the young woman's name, as known to her, was Miss Wilson and that it was to save her reputation that she hid the things after "twice had been removed to Bellevue. Mr. Swann told the reporters that he had established the identity of the pink pajama girl and that it was Miss Wilson.

LAST SAW ELWELL ALIVE
THURSDAY MORNING.

"When did you last see Mr. Elwell before you discovered him unconscious in the chair in his drawing room?" asked Mr. Swann.

"He left the house on Thursday morning at 11:30 after telling me to put away the clothes he wore at the wedding the day before. I left an hour later."

"Did you ever see Mr. von Schlegel at the house?"

"Never."

Mrs. Larsen described the position of the body of her employer in the chair as she had found it, and said the carriage wheel was lying on the floor to the right of the chair and near the radiator.

"Did you think that Mr. Elwell had killed himself or had been killed?"

"I believed he had been killed."

"Why?"

"Because there was no gun and he had no reason for taking his own life. He was not depressed, but always seemed in the best of spirits."

"Who was it got you your position in the house?"

"Mr. Barnes."

"Did you ever discuss the death of your employer with Barnes?"

It was then that the housekeeper hesitated and the questions of her face twisted. She seemed to nod her head in the affirmative, but her lips formed the syllable answer: "No."

EXPLAINS HOW BARNES GAVE HER JOB.

"Let me explain about Mr. Barnes," she said. "He gave me the position through a mutual friend who worked in the same club with him."

"Who held the position before you?"

"Annie King."

"Did you ever hear of a colored girl in the house named Catherine Jones?"

"Never."

"How many keys were there to the front door?"

"Three, as far as I know."

"Did Mr. Pendleton have a key?"

"Not that I knew of. Mr. Elwell told me once that Mr. Pendleton was going to the house and to leave my
